

Coronavirus: COVID-19 Current Update – January 13, 2022

Public Health Ontario's Weekly COVID-19 Summary

Public Health Ontario (PHO) warns us to interpret these trends with caution because they are not entirely accurate. COVID-19 cases, contacts, and outbreaks are only being managed in high-risk populations and settings. There is also a delay in reporting, especially with severe outcomes and deaths. Reported case counts are a severe underestimate of the actual extent of COVID-19 infections in Ontario.

Last week, indicators for COVID-19 were higher overall compared to the previous week. The number of reported COVID-19 cases in Ontario was 7,441 compared to 6,624 the week before. Last week, there were 398 reported COVID-19-related hospitalizations, which is lower than the week before, and 67 reported COVID-19-related deaths, which is higher than the week before.

The total number of confirmed, ongoing COVID-19 outbreaks in high-risk settings is 143, compared to 144 outbreaks the week before. The number of outbreaks decreased in Long-Term Care homes (from 53 to 37) and congregate living settings, such as group homes/supportive housing, shelters and correctional facilities (from 28 to 20). The number of outbreaks increased in retirement homes (from 31 to 45) and hospitals (from 32 to 41).
