

Coronavirus: COVID-19
Current Update – October 7, 2022

Public Health Ontario’s Weekly COVID-19 Summary

Public Health Ontario (PHO) warns us to interpret these trends with caution because they are not entirely accurate. COVID-19 cases, contacts, and outbreaks are only being managed in high-risk populations and settings. There is also a delay in reporting, especially with severe outcomes and deaths.

The number of reported cases in Ontario was 8,300 this week compared to 8,106 last week. While this week’s COVID-19 numbers are similar compared to the previous week, a gradual increase in cases and percent positivity has been happening over the past 3 weeks.

This week, there were 359 reported hospital admissions (down from 347 last week) and 45 reported deaths (down from 65 last week). The total number of outbreaks in high-risk settings decreased from 174 last week to 158 this week. The number of outbreaks slightly decreased in Long-Term Care homes, retirement homes, and congregate living (includes group homes/supportive housing, shelters and correctional facilities). The number of outbreaks slightly increased in hospitals.
