

Coronavirus: COVID-19
Current Update – September 30, 2022

Public Health Ontario’s Weekly COVID-19 Summary

Public Health Ontario (PHO) warns us to interpret these trends with caution because they are not entirely accurate. COVID-19 cases, contacts, and outbreaks are only being managed in high-risk populations and settings. There is also a delay in reporting, especially with severe outcomes and deaths.

The number of reported cases in Ontario was 8,050 this week compared to 7,673 last week. They predict that the number of cases will continue to increase over the next two weeks. Compared to last week, case rates were similar or higher in 6 of Ontario’s 7 regions and 28 of 34 public health units.

This week, there were 359 reported hospital admissions (down from 347 last week) and 45 reported deaths (down from 65 last week). The total number of outbreaks in high-risk settings has also gone up from 138 last week to 159 this week. In the past week, the number of outbreaks in group home/supportive housing outbreaks nearly doubled (from 18 to 30 outbreaks). However, cases went down in all high-risk settings except for hospitals (16% increase) and group home/supportive housing (10% increase).
